NEW SENATE DEMOCRATIC

Majority of Two May Be Increased by Winning Deadlocked States.

Washington, Feb. 3-Through recent elections in the several states where vacancies in United States senatorships existed in the senate, after March 4 will be composed of 49 Democrat sand 43 Republicans, 11 of the latter having placed themselves under the Progressive flag. Three states are deadlocked at the present time on tthe question of selection of senators to fill vacancies. Thees are Illinois, where two senators are to be elected; West Virginia and

New Hampshire, one each. The legislatures in each of these states are Republican, but so-called progressive Republicans hold the balance of power and have prevented the choice of a Republican candidate. Should the three states yet to se lect their senators choose Republicans the United States senate after March 4 will be 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans, the latter including the 11 senators who have openly announced themselves as Progressives.

The theory of an incendiary is strengthened by the fact that the family was not at home from the noon hour and those persons who were first at the scene of the blaze state that the fire started at the rear of the house, where there is no stove. The blaze seemed to these witnesses to spread rapidly in all directions. Mr. and Mrs. Pentz were at the home of Mr. Pentz's brother, Millard Alex. Frazier, Mrs. Ida Dillman, Pentz, about a quarter of a mile distant. When neighbors reached the house the fire threw out so much heat that nothing could be saved but a few chairs and a can of lard that was in filed by the assignee and approved the basement. All the clothing and by court. Clara Hess, Jennie Redding, Mary furniture in the house with 300 pounds of pork was destroyed. The house was insured for $600, an amount which will not cover the loss. Senator LaFollette, for instance, turned up in opposition to the resolution, although its passage would be a long step in the direction of preventing Colonel Roosevelt from ever again being president of the United States. On the other hand, Senator Cummins was recorded in the affirmative, while the only Democratic senator in opposition was Snively, of Indiana. Senators Dixon, of Montana, and Poindex ter, of Washington, both ardent supporters of Roosevelt, of course cast their votes in the negative. Senattor Oliver went the same way, while Penrose was recorded in the affirmative. In all seventeen regular Republicans supported the proposition.

Senator Dupont had been paired with Senator Culberson, of Texas, and so announced when he voted, but said that he felt free to have himself recorded in the affirmative, because he understood that if the Texas senator were present he would vote the same

40,000 STEEL TRUST MEN CALLED OUT

General Strike Ordered in the Pittsburgh District.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb 3.-Officers of the American Federation of Labor and officials of the United States Steel corporation are preparing for what promises to be a long drawn out and bitterly contested fight for recognition of the union

Frank L. Morrison, secretary of the federation, has issued a call for a general strike in all the steel corporation mills in the Pittsburgh district. Should the strike order be heeded 40,000 men will walk out this week.

The situation at Rankin and Braddock, which has been quiet since the riot of last Tuesday night, when one man was killed and twenty-four men, women and children were injured, may again reach the danger point. Sheriff Bruff, in anticipation of more rioting, announced that the state constabulary would be called to the scene of trouble the moment the first shot was fired.

According to General Organizer Thomas H. Flynn, who is assisting Secretary Morrison in preparing for the big struggle, all of the thirty-one plants of the American Steel and Wire company may be called out within a few days.

Secretary Morrison said that he had been in consultation with the strikers' committees and had found that a militant spirit prevailed. He declared that the federation would stand back of the men to the bitter end.

Queer Egyptian Burial Customs.

The Egyptians have many curious customs in connection with the burial sick. At every Moslem funeral, for instance, there are hired mourners, varying in number according to the wealth of the deceased. These funerals are always headed by old blind men, carrying long staffs in their hands and wailing loudly. They are followed by the relatives and friends of the deceased, and then comes the coffin. This is succeeded by two or three of the native flat carts common to Cairo, filled with women mourners. Mourning, in fact, is quite a profession among the women. Every day you see groups of them squatting on the ground outside the bospital at Cairo, waiting to be hired for a funeral.-Wide World Magazine.

A Coral Sleeve Button

By ALLAN G. LAMOND

A murder was committed in Naples Italy. Signor Lancani, a single gentle man living in apartments, was the vic tim, and since he was well off and fond of display he had considerable jewelry -for a man-which was talen. The police learned of the missing articles so far as they could be determined and gave a description of them to Giuseppt Varilli, a member of the carabinieri, or national police, who was given the case to make out of it what he could There was missing one gold chronomeier watch, two gold chains, a number of shirt studs and other articles of similar character. The assassin and robber in making his exit had dropped a link sleeve button on the floor. They make in Italy of pink coral exquisite adornments, and this single sleeve button was twin roses of the most delicate carving, set in gold.

Varilli looked at it admiringly. "Who ever has the mate to it," he said, "will scarcely be able to refrain from wear ing it, so beautiful is it. If he had it as well as its mate, he will surely betray bimself on account of it." How ever, the officer put it in his vest pocket with the vague expectation that it might lead to a clew.

The murder had been committed at an hour when a number of persons were about, but no one could be found who would admit that he had seen any one in the building who did not belong there at the time of the assassination. Varilli, who knew the criminal side of Naples well, assumed that this reticence indicated that the murderer was a member of the dreaded Camorra, and if any one dared to peach upon him he would do so at the risk of his life.

A year passed without the slightest clew to the Lancani murder. Several of the missing articles of jewelry turn ed up, but were always found on per sons above suspicion. They were ready to tell where they got them, but either the person from whom they were obtained or the next possessor beyond could not remember just how the jewel had come to him. But the sleeve button was never regained. "It is too beautiful," said Varilli. "The rascal will not part with it. He will not wear it in his cuff, for he has no mate for it. He will not get a mate made. for he can only secure one from a skilled carver, such as made the one be has. Were I in his place I would have it made into two studs. I would not turn it into a scarfpin, for one rose would do for that, and I could not use the other rose. Yes that is the only thing to do with it, and if the assassin idea that his vanity will get the better of his caution.' One day Varilli's chief started him to London, where news had been re ceived that a certain bandit, who had of their dead and the healing of the tween Sorrento and Amalfi who could living apparently in a well to do con dition. On his arrival in London Varilli sought the Italian quarter, but his quarry, passing under the name of > Varilli spent a couple of months at the English capital and was about to give up his quest and return to Naples when one evening he entered a musihall and, taking a seat at a table, called for the English drink, ale, and a Unlike nearly all Italians the detective had light hair and eyes Moreover, though he spoke English in differently, he had learned to speak it without the Italian pronunciation. Indeed, a stranger would have taken him rather for a German than an Italian. Noticing a man at the next table to a seat opposite the other. The man looked at him with a pair of suspicious evidently not relishing his movement.

"Don't disturb yourself," said Varilli "I think I have seen you in Berlin Are you not Herr Berhoff, a brewer?" "I have neva been in Berlin in ma life." said the other, showing by his speech that he was an Italian, "and I am not a brewer." "Then I have been mistaken," said Varilli, who had desired to get closer to the man and hear him speak. "Now that I see those beautiful coral studs you wear I take it you are from Italy have never seen such carving as that except in Naples." At this the man changed counte nance, involuntarily drawing his coat over his shirt front. Then he glanced about him as if looking for an exit.

"I am from Naples myself," Varilli went on saying. "I know exactly where those studs came from. There is a shop in Naples facing the bay where they are sold. I have a pair of roses composing a link sleeve button"-The man glared and, rising, stood at bay. Varilli put his hand in his vest pocket, took out the sleeve button and held it up before the other.

"In a public music hall," he contin ued. "in the center of London it will be impossible for you to escape. At the slightest commotion policemen will come. If you will go quietly with me there need be no disturbance." A week from that evening Varilli delivered his prisoner, who turned ou to be both the bandit he was after and the murderer of Lancani, to the authorities at Naples He was condemn ed to that which is worse than deathsolitary confinement for life.

HUMOROUS QUIPS.

Rather Obscure.

"I've been thinking of it ever since started on my present journey." said the commercial traveler thoughtfully "and I'm bothered if I can make up my mind just what she was aiming at You see, some time ago I realized that traveling about the country as I am I was taking a good many chances. decided, therefore, to insure myself.

"So I said to my wife after I had acted upon the thought: 'I have done something today that I should have done when I first started on the road-I have taken out an accident insurance policy on my life. If I am killed the company pays $5,000. If I am in jured then I get $5 a week. "'For how long?' she asked. "'As long as I am laid up.'

"'And you would only get $5." "That is all." "'And if you got killed you get $5,

"'But it might be only a week.'

"'Yes.'

"'You would,' I answered patiently. "Well, the next morning when I start ed on my journey she threw her arms

Their Parting

All too short had been their associa tion. All too soon had there come a parting of the ways. This being the case, Mary Jane and her mistress con sidered it an apt moment for the throw ing of a few remarks.

7300 MINERS ON STRIKE

Quit Work Because Engineers Refuse to Join Union. Scranton, Pa., Feb. 3.—Refusing to work alongside of engineers who have refused to join the union, 7300 miners at the Lackawanna collieries in Scranton and Taylor and at the Delaware & Hudson colliery in Archbald are out of work. ,

This was part of a general strike that had been planned for between Nanticoke and Forest City to compel engineers to become allied with the miners' organization. At the collieries not affected by the walkout the engineers have joined the union.

The walking out of the 7300 men tied up operations completely at the nine collieries. Every Lackawanna colliery in Scranton is affected, but the workers at its other twenty-four collieries remained at work.

SLAVES OF THE DESERT.

A Lashing Taken With Gratitude by the Emir's Servants.

Abd-er-Rabman wore a heavy scowl that boded ill for some one, and his bingers caressed his rawhide koorbag as be watched the cameis being laden. When all was ready to start be called out four names, and four dejected looking Arabs answered shamefacedly to the summons.

The emir spoke to them dispassionately, as one might speak to one's dog. and then, tossing his koorbag to the nearest of the four culprits, he bade him lay on a dozen of the best, while he watched and criticised each stroke with grim earnestness

It was not a pleasant sight to watch, and I thought it policy to turn aside, enjoyed the exhibition and greeted each well laid blow with approval. When the punishment was completed each of the culprits in turn came forward and kissed the emir's feet, thanking him for his mercy and calling Allah to witness that they were his dogs to do with as he wished. From their subsequent conduct I have no reason to believe that they did not mean every word they said, though at the time I was skeptical. It is not every day that one learns such an object lesson in humility and feudal service .-Wide World Magazine.

Wearing the Trousers,

Ancient Britons were among the people whose wearing of trousers was noted by the more civilized auclents who eschewed them. "Bruccae" (breeches) seem to have impressed the Roman mind very much as Chinese pigtails did the modern west. Gaul. beyond the Alps, was at one time known as Gallia Braccata-Trouserland-and Cicero taunts a man with having sprung from "tronsered" ancestors. As Roman ways degenerated the use of trousers began to creep in. and it is recorded that Alexander Severus wore white ones, previous emperors' tronsers having been crimson
